R. M. Gilliland, who was in Washingon this week, with others interested in the proposed bridge from Bellaire to Benwood, is home and says the war department granted the major portion of were kind and courteous in all their decisions. While in Washington the party called upon President McKinley. The proposed new bridge is to be made the least objectionable of any on the Ohlo to river coal men. That is, when it is built.

Unique Christmas Present.

Dr. D. W. Boone, D. H. Darrah, sr., T. M. Wells and Charles Wassman, yesterday sent to Dr. J. A. Berry, of Bellaire, a unique Christmas present in the shape of a plaster paris dog, which they described in "dogological" terms as a cross between the Beagel hound, bull, pug and English setter, but nound, buil, pug and English setter, but was especially partial to rabbits. The outil was in an open box marked to handle with care, and not to feed or water, as ample supply had been put in the box. When it is understood that Dr. Berry is an intelligent fancier of the finest English setters the joke can be appreciated.

He had been helpless for a time, and even bebeen helpless for a time, and even be-fore he was entirely so, he dreaded the infirmary and would not consent to go there. He swept pavements and dld odd chores and thus managed to get along, and when he died he left $200 to Miss Jenkins for caring for him and to bury him with. The funeral will occur Sun-day.

Factories Off Again.

All the factories at Martin's Ferry. including the tin plant, Stanton Heater works, and the National Glass Comdays plant, were compelled to shut down again yesterday, on account of there being no gas. A broken main is given as the cause. It is said everything will be repaired to-day so that all the plants may resume Monday.

Elecutionary Entertainment.

An elocutionary and musical entertainment will be given at the Grange hall, in Emerson, next Wednesday, which promises to be a rare treat for Clara C. Adams, B. O., the noted and popular elocutionist, and Miss Arreth-la Reddick, vocalist, of New York, are the star performers on the programme. Milkmen Bring Suit.

The milkmens' union of Martin's Ferry, has brought suit against Fred Witchey, who runs a wagon and also has a milk depot, for the recovery of his union card. The case has been filed in Squire Newland's court, and the case will be heard some day next week. It is stated that Witchey has been selling milk cheaper than the union prices. A $25,000 Pay.
